ORDER CREDIT BUYING LIMITS

Teeth Put in President's Advice To Keep Debt at Minimum.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—The government today put a set of teeth in President Roosevelt's advice that people ought to pay their bills and keep out of debt.

With only a few hours notice, the federal reserve board put into effect last midnight rules governing the credit purchase of nearly every household item except food, drugs and cosmetics.

Intended specifically to give force to the suggestion made by the President last week about getting out of debt, the rules were designed to keep people from using their credit to bid up prices that enter into the cost of living and to direct more money into war bonds purchases.

They provided specifically how and when credit customers should pay for everything from kitchen pans to clothing—46 items in all—whether bought on regular charge accounts or on the installment plan.

It was the first time that ordinary charge accounts were touched by board regulations. If an item on the restricted list is charged, it must be paid for by the tenth day of the second month after the purchase, or the customer's credit must be shut off on all listed articles. The penalty may be avoided however, if the merchant and customer are willing to sign an agreement to clean up the debt in fixed installments during the following six months.

Larger Down Payments

As to installment credit the new requirements are for larger down payments and shorter time to pay the balance. On most items, the rule is one-third down and a year to pay, except that the monthly payments must be at least $5 even if that shortens the payment time.

Both the new charge account and installment credit rules apply to a wider list of articles than ever was covered by previous regulations for installment credit alone. Added to the list of restricted items were such categories as all non-military clothing, luggage, sports and game equipment, all table and kitchen ware, automobile accessories, bedding, linens all household electrical appliances, yard goods and used furniture. These items were added to former lists which al-

Marion Canteen Workers To Launch Activities Monday At Union Station

Two Rooms and Equipment Donated to Women Planning Treats for Troops Passing Through City.

Marion women enlisted for canteen service will start work next Monday when the new canteen rooms at the Union Station opens its doors to the men in the United States war service. Headed by Mrs Eugene. Willey, the work will be carried on under the sponsorship of the Marion County Civilian Defense Council.

Opening of the canteen has been made possible through the generosity of Marion industrial and business places and the financial help of interested persons. Two large rooms to the rear and east of the Union station have been turned over to the women by the three railroads, New York Central, Erie and Chesapeake & Ohio, for use during the war, the Marion Steam Shovel Co gave the use of the company's cafeteria equipment for the duration, the Marion-Reserve Power Co has installed light fixtures and provided an electric stove, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co will donate the services of connecting the various equipment.

Boys Clean Rooms

Hi-Y boys of the city donated time and work for cleaning the rooms and Monday night a corps of workmen from Local No 177, Painters and Decorators put the rooms in shipshape condition by painting and decorating the walls in brown and buff. Karl Kay, assisted by a number of workmen, moved the cafeteria equipment to the canteen, and Mrs J. Malcolm Strehlz donated a large ice box. Chairs were given by L A Axe & Son and M H. Gunder & Sons.

Contributions of money, upon which the carrying on of the work will largely depend, will be most acceptable in getting the canteen started and throughout the duration, Mrs. Willey said today.

As in other war projects the women are donating their services for the canteen work. According to present plans the women will work in three four-hour shifts from 10 a. m until 10 p m and to begin with the workers will be in teams of five women each.

To Serve Refreshments

The service will be extended to men traveling on troop trains and refreshments will include snacks of doughnuts, coffee, candy, popcorn and fruit. Cigarets will be furnished the men and already the women have had an offer from a large company to help in furnishing the cigarets. Postal cards will be provided by the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

The women, all of whom have completed the required nutrition course for canteen workers, will work in shifts from 10 a m to 2 p m, 2 to 6 p. m, and 6 to 10 p m.

EMPLOYMENT TREND STILL UPWARD HERE

Chamber of Commerce Reports on Gain.

Continuing a steady upward trend begun the first of the year, employment in ten Marion factories reached an April peak of 6,145, according to a monthly report compiled by the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

DRIVE WORKERS MEET TONIGHT

War Bond Pledge Campaign Organization To Hear Ohio Staff Secretary.

The stage was set today for the mass meeting of Marion city war pledge workers tonight at 7:30 in The Star auditorium at which Harold Bredlow, executive secretary of Ohio's war bond staff and representative of the U. S. treasury drive, will be the speaker.

It was again stressed that the canvass Friday, Saturday and Sunday will not be to sell bonds but to determine how much Marion residents will pledge toward the purchase of bonds.

Another call for more workers went out today from Harold J Grigsby, president of the Kiwanis club which is sponsoring the canvass.

Women willing to give a few hours of their time to this government-requested work and who were not at meetings Sunday at which districts were assigned, may volunteer their services tonight.

All that is necessary is that they identify themselves to Kiwanis club ward chairmen, who will see that they are properly assigned. The chairmen are Clarence Shockney, Ward 1; Russell Luke, Ward 2; A. T. Allen, Ward 3, W. E. Orcutt, Ward 4, Carl Danner, Ward 5, and Jay Newell, Ward 6.

"We must realize the seriousness of these times and of everyone pitching in and working to win the war," Mr. Grigsby said this morning.

After the program, which will be carried through as rapidly as possible, window pledge stickers and government pledge forms will be issued to all workers by the ward chairmen.

The Harding High school band will open the program. In addition to the talk by Mr. Bredlow, a brief explanation of the three series of war bonds will be given by E Paul Bachman of the National City bank.

A special invitation to attend the meeting has been extended to the rural workers who are in the midst of their canvassing under the direction of A. J. Loudenslager.

Plan To Seize Autos Reported Approved

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—Senator Hill (D-Ala), said today that Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Robert P. Patterson, under-secretary of war, had approved in principle a pending bill to authorize the government to requisition private automobiles and pay for them.

Appearing before the senate military committee in a closed session, the two officials also were said by Hill to have indorsed the principle of another measure which would establish a national speed limit of 40 miles and provide for the confiscation of the autos of persons convicted of exceeding it.

U. S. Sees Vichy Stand Against British as New Threat to Canal Zone

Commandos Advance 20 Miles in Occupation of Madagascar.

Washington Keeps Eye on Other French Bases in Western Area.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 6—The British are meeting determined resistance in Madagascar and casualties today have been "heavier," a communique reported.

* * *

By The Associated Press

British troops plunging 20 miles through the jungles of French Madagascar were reported meeting stiffening resistance today as Washington considered a possible United States move against Vichy-controlled bases flanking the Panama Canal.

Washington diplomatic sources said the Vichy government's fight against British occupation of Madagascar island could be construed as hostile to the United Nations and that it raised the question of whether French bases in the Caribbean — Martinique, Guadeloupe and French Guiana — should be allowed to remain in Vichy hands.

A bulletin from French headquarters on Madagascar said the island's entire air force had been thrown into action against renewed British bombing attacks and declared:

"We are resisting along the first line of redoubts."

London military quarters said the British commandos, infantry and marines who landed on the 1,000-mile-long island at dawn Tuesday were now closing in on the key Diego Suarez naval base.

Resistance Is Sharp

These quarters acknowledged that the island's defenders, under orders from Vichy to fight to the end, were putting up hard resistance but said the British advance was progressing "satisfactorily."

Vichy reports last night said the British estimated by the French at 20,000 troops, had reached the town of Andrakaka, only four miles from Diego Suarez.

The German-controlled Paris radio said "Fighting has been going on in Madagascar for 24 hours, and a handful of French colonials, without hope of help or reinforcements from the home country, has been fighting step by step against the British aggressors."

Acting with the full consent of the United States, the British moved into Madagascar to prevent a threatened axis seizure of the strategic island, which commands allied sea communications to the Middle East, India and China.

France's pro-German Premier Pierre Laval bluntly ignored the warning contained in an American note to Vichy that "any warlike act permitted by the French government against the government of Great Britain or of the United States would, of necessity, have to be regarded as an attack upon the United Nations as a whole."

While French planes fiercely attacked the British occupation forces, a Madagascar communique disclosed that the French had lost two out of three light naval units which dashed out of the Diego Suarez base yesterday in a desperate foray against British warships.

The communique said British gunners sank the 1,379-ton submarine Beveziers and the Bougainville, variously described as an auxiliary cruiser and a light cruiser, and damaged a small French auxiliary cruiser. Most of the crews were saved.

Estimate French Forces

Madagascar's land forces were estimated in London at 1,500 Frenchmen and 3,700 colonials.

Vichy dispatches said several

28-DAY SIEGE ENDS FIGHTING IN MANILA BAY

Almost Constant Shelling and Air Attack Opens Way for Troop Landings.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—Corregidor reportedly has fallen after 28 days of siege.

The mighty American-Filipino forces who held the island fortress after the loss of Bataan despite shattering air bombardment and a battering cross fire of heavy shore batteries from both sides of Manila bay, finally were forced to yield to an overwhelming Japanese land attack.

So terrible of the battered rock was announced in a laconic communique from the war department which said that terms were being arranged.

"Any resistance of our troops has been overcome," said the announcement, issued at 1:15 a m (Marion time).

Fighting has ceased and terms are being arranged covering the capitulation of the island forts in Manila bay."

In addition to Fort Mills on Corregidor, a determined, last-ditch fight to prevent the Japanese from making use of Manila bay had been waged from American forts on three smaller islands—Forts Drum, Hughes and Frank.

It was assumed from the communique that Colona finally had been struck on all four islands.

Defenders Worn Down

Hunger, fatigue and lack of ammunition were believed to have worn down the defenders in the closing days of their heroic stand.

The victory which the Japanese won at great cost gave them control of the best harbor in the orient and strengthened the long communications lines they have thrust toward Australia and India.

American-Filipino troops continued to plague the enemy with guerilla warfare in various parts of Cebu, Mindanao and Panay islands.

A war department communique said one of the last messages received from Gen Wainwright reported that casualties among the defenders were heavy during the last few days.

The communique said military installations on the tiny "Gibraltar of the Philippines" had also been severely damaged by constant Japanese shelling and aerial bombing.

Gen. Wainwright reported that for the fourth consecutive day there were 13 separate air attacks on Corregidor on May 5, and that the final shelling by Japanese 240 millimeter siege guns had destroyed barbed wire entanglements and other defenses.

Advance in Barges

Japanese shock troops, he said, crossed the narrow stretch of water from Bataan to Corregidor in a large fleet of steel barges for the direct assault.

Corregidor's guns replied to the enemy artillery fire and shelled truck columns in Bataan during the last day, Wainwright reported, but the counter-battery fire was severely handicapped, as it had been throughout the siege of the Manila bay forts, by lack of aerial observation.

Wainwright also reported that the Japanese had landed reinforcements in the vicinity of Malagang near Cotabato on the island of Mindanao, and were moving a considerable force in steel barges up the Pulangi river in Mindanao, near Digos, on Davao gulf, in Mindanao, where American-Filipino forces have dealt severe blows at enemy installations in sudden raids.

General Stays With Men

It was believed here, although there was no official word, that General Wainwright remained with his troops to the end.

He signaled the beginning of the final battle in a message yesterday reporting that "about midnight, Tuesday, Manila time, (noon Monday, eastern war time), the Japanese had assaulted Corregidor and that a landing attack was in progress."

Hours of official silence passed before first word of the outcome was flashed from allied headquarters in Australia. At 2 a. m., eastern war time a spokesman for General Douglas MacArthur, who entrusted his command to General Wainwright after leading the brilliant defense of Bataan, made this announcement:

"General Wainwright has sur-

40 JAP PLANES HIT BY U. S. BOMBERS

25 Others Damaged in Second Raid on Rangoon Port.

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, INDIA, May 6—Forty Japanese planes were destroyed and 25 others badly damaged by a heavy United States bomber squadron which struck early today in its second successive raid on Mingaladon airdrome just north of Rangoon, American sources said today.

Three flights of Major Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's bomber force in India delivered the attack this morning, starting fires that could be seen 70 miles away.

Their bombs smashed into the fire-blackened Japanese hangar and gasoline dump, left wrecked by the two previous flights of bombers the night before.

The raid was the seventh in the lower Burma area since American fliers began their aerial offensive from India April 1.

The RAF, timing its blows with the American attack, struck anew at barges bringing Japanese war material and perhaps troops up the Chindwin river on the Burma front 400 miles to the north.

The Americans met strong anti-aircraft and fighter plane opposition, a U. S. army air force headquarters communique said, intimating that Mingaladon was perhaps the chief of all the Japanese air bases in Burma.

While the weary British land forces continued a rear-guard action along the Chindwin, aided by the RAF bombing in the vicinity of Monywa, about 50 miles west

TAFT DRAFTS RULE FOR CALLING MEN

Senator Cites Discrimination Under Present Plan.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) proposed yesterday that draft classifications be based on family status rather than actual financial dependency, asserting that there had been "great discrimination throughout the United States with reference to the question of dependency."

He introduced legislation which would set up seven classes and require each class to be exhausted before men in the next class could be called for service. The measure would not affect occupational deferments now provided, and it would not be retroactive.

Under the present system, Taft said, some local boards have granted dependency deferments to virtually all married men while others did not consider a wife dependent if she was working, had ever worked or was capable of working.

"There is hardly a man today under 45," Taft declared, "who is able to make any plans for the future. No one can be certain whether he can continue in his business or be drafted. This has resulted in a flood of applications for commissions from older men."

Taft's bill would set up these classes:

1. Men under 35 who are unmarried and childless, or married since Sept. 16, 1940, the date of the draft act.

2. Men between 35 and 45 who are unmarried and childless, or married since Dec. 20, 1941, when the draft act was extended above 35.

3. Married men under 35 without children.

4. Married men over 35 without children.

5. Men under 28, married before [illegible] children.

6. Men between 28 and 35, married after the draft, with [illegible] children.

7. Men over 35 married before [illegible] with children.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, May 7

Although the astral influences for this day are expensive, warning and promising, with encouragement for important aims and objectives, yet there is sign of mental and emotional disturbances or situations which might prove a frustrating force having a disappointing influence on best hopes and wishes. Indulgence in highly nervous and intellectual ideas or tensions as well as other extravagances or excesses may prove perilous to fortune, credit and peace of mind. Business, as well as social, domestic and friendly relations may be disturbed unless handled with good judgment, frugality, moderation and precaution.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of many expenses, hopeful and encouraging influences which may be directed to lucrative, happy and productive fulfillments if a tendency to mental and emotional stress as well as to extravagance, negligences and over-zealous desires is curbed. Reasonable, temperate, friendly and considerate behavior is recommended if excellent auguries are to be permitted to operate. Be alert to fraud and entangling alliances in all contacts and there may be definite growth and profit, with much pleasure.

A child born on this day should have much efficiency, mental ability and ambition, but its over-expansive, extravagant and zealous nature may prove its undoing in both business and private life, unless given early direction in the use of its fine talents.

FIVE PUPILS DIE AS TRAIN HITS CAR

After School Joy Ride Ends in Tragedy.

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., May 6—An after school joy-ride ended in death for five 'teen-age youngsters because their blaring automobile radio prevented them from hearing the approach of a fast passenger train, officers theorized today.

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies said that the radio played on in the demolished car after the crash.

The train hurled the vehicle 100 yards down the track as bodies of the youngsters were strewn along the right of way.

The accident occurred at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad crossing two miles east of here yesterday afternoon. The victims: Barbara Deutsch, 14, daughter of Mrs. R. E. Jellerson of Detroit, Mich.; Jean Bush, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bush; Harry Sullivan, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan; Kenneth Stockdale, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ehernett Stockdale, and Fred Ehlermann, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Ehlermann.

Coroner G. W. Sapp reported the car was driven by Sullivan and belonged to his father, Engineer T. O. Eutcher of Newark said he did not see the auto before it was struck.

MINSTREL SHOW IS DELAYED UNTIL JUNE

Benefit To Be Staged In June, Director Announces.

The Marion Military Rifles Minstrel show, announced for May 12-15, has been postponed until early June, Arthur B. Creasap, director, announced today.

Some of the members of the cast have been called into service, which will necessitate reorganization of some parts of the show, Mr. Creasap said. Numerous school activities this month also were taken into consideration when it was decided to postpone the performance.

When the show is staged it will be given as a benefit for some branch of the civilian defense program instead of as a benefit solely for Marion Rifles, according to the director.

New dates for the show will be announced within a few weeks. Rehearsals will continue, although there will be none this week.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

"Believe Me!"

At first, Liu's story sent all kinds of storm warnings flapping through her mind. But in another moment, logic overtook her scudding fears. If Hajami were being held prisoner in some Farms street house, Henri's visit there involved him, very probably. No doubt he had discovered the boy was there and was even now doing all he could to have him released.

"But don't you see, Liu," she began reasonably. "Mr. de la Pagerie is trying to help Hajami. That is why he has made trips to see him."

"Then why has he not said to you that Hajami was found?"

"I don't know. Perhaps because he has a very good reason for waiting until the right time."

The girl shook her head. "Mr. de la Pagerie is not trying to help Hajami. I am sure of that. He is not a friend to you, Miss Merrill."

"Liu! What a thing to say."

"But it is true. I can tell by his face. I can tell by the way he sneaks in the side door and listens to what your father is telling you. I can tell by the way he picks up the telephone to make a call, he says, but listens to what you are saying."

"What call? When?"

"Just now. After you came up the stairs, Miss Stone and the Captain went out to the pantry to mix some drinks. Mr. de la Pagerie did not know that I could watch him from the hall. He told them—'You run along. I'm going to make a call and then I'll join you.' After that he listened to what you were saying. He did not make a call at all."

"It's just not conceivable. You must be mistaken, Liu," Stephanie whispered, staring at her.

The girl's lips trembled. "Believe me, I am telling you the truth."

"All right, Liu," Stephanie said briskly. "Thanks a lot for telling me this. I'll find out what it's all about. Now don't worry—and don't say anything of this to the others."

"No, Miss Merrill. And please,"—a little soft hand on Stephanie's arm, "be very careful."

"I will," she promised smiling and catching up her driving gloves, started downstairs.

Kurt was waiting for her in the hall below.

"Where are you going?"

"To Headquarters. They're short handed. I'm needed."

Kurt took her hand. "Pretty late, isn't it?"

"I'm taking out the midnight canteen." She laughed at the concern in his face. "Heavens, I've done that dozens of times. Why so alarmed?"

"Just don't like the idea. Well—" he opened the door for her, "be careful."

Too Many Warnings

Be careful—be careful. The warnings tagged her out to the old stable, down the steep hill. And Liu's strange story. What of that? She'd have to face Henri with it. Maybe there would be an opportunity if she happened to get home about the time they did tonight. Or perhaps she could call him in the morning.

At least, she decided as she walked the last block from the parking station to the huge office building where the Red Cross Headquarters occupied two floors, she wouldn't have time to do anything about it now.

"You are a treasure to help us out like this," Mrs. Daubney greeted her, smiling wearily. "Everything is in a perfect mess."

Stephanie worked right at the desk, taking calls, making out reports, until nearly midnight. Then she tussled with the big five gallon container of coffee, the boxes of sandwiches. She'd go alone again tonight. There just weren't workers enough to be spared.

"I don't mind. I'll be right back," she called as she started off.

She didn't mind, exactly, only she couldn't quite forget the picture of that poor soldier boy's inert body. Shuddering, she swerved to avoid a traffic island.

As she drew near the water front she flicked on the windshield wiper. The fog was pouring in over the hill like a thick grey curtain. The occasional car she met, loomed out the murky dark suddenly, alarmingly. Stephanie reduced speed to a crawl. The going was awful. She could scarcely see a car's length ahead.

The fog closed in around her until it was as if she'd pushed into a world without dimensions. Even sounds seemed strangely distorted. And over all the monotonous wailing of the fog horns out on the water. Hollow, haunting moans that sent shudders up her spine. An awful night to be out.

An awful night to be pacing some lonely beat, too she thought, as she finally recognized the street's curve rising toward the bridge approach. She'd be glad to get home after this. Cautiously, she nosed her away along near the high embankment rise out of the grey void ahead, stopped the car.

Chloroform

She flicked the lights in the usual signal although she realized even as she did, that no light would penetrate this fog. She waited a moment to be sure. Then she sounded the horn. Three short blasts. Then three more.

The luminous clock on the dashboard ticked off five minutes. No response from the sentry who must be—who should be there! Stephanie felt growing apprehension mushroom inside. This couldn't happen again. Not really! She sounded the horn again.

Still no answer.

Finally, she gathered up the scrambling threads of her courage. If the boys just hadn't heard, it certainly would be cruelty to deny them the hot coffee and good food. Just because she had the jitters. And if there was something wrong again—it was certainly the least she could do to get help.

Remembering the flashlight in the dash board compartment, Stephanie started up the steep embankment to the cement walk at the top.

As she went, she signalled with the light. Even called aloud.

No response.

At the top she stood a moment to listen for footfalls, to catch her breath, to gather courage to push on into that thick, wet darkness.

Something was wrong. She was sure of it. Every second that failed to bring an answer to her call, added digits to her apprehension. Then, at last, her flashlight picked up the dim outline of a man.

"Halloa, there. I thought I'd never find you. Aren't you—"

But the question was cut short. Stephanie felt something clapped roughly over her mouth as strong arms caught, held her struggling but helpless while someone held a sickish sweet-smelling cloth to her nose.

Chloroform! The word flashed in her brain. She fought wildly but now she was slipping so far away—down—into strange darkness—and the sound of water pouring in her ears—

QUICKER COMMISSION BAN IS REJECTED

House Committee Votes Down Restriction.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6—Reversing its previous stand after a surreptitious election-eve, the house military committee today banned drafting the war department into green lists as commissioned officers for special duty.

The committee voted 16-9 yesterday to knock out a rider to the service pay increase bill that would have limited selection of officers to those already commissioned by states and territories.

The same committee majority, however, kept the bill from giving the war department the power to use commissioned officers in civilian defense or military training activities for promotional material, over the protest of Chairman May (D., Ky.).

To avoid the possibility of a floor amendment that would put the provision back into the bill, committee members said the house military committee probably would report an emergency order to draft the states' agencies and qualifications of officers given specialized commissions.

This was accomplished, a Pentagon department in Pennsylvania would have limited selection of officers of the proposed new militia.

Delaware Barber Shop Problem Is Settled

DELAWARE, May 6—Delaware barbers who engaged in a recent dispute with a city council ordinance which would have limited their working hours, when they kept open on Sunday, in violation of the ordinance on their opening and closing hours, were fined $10 and costs each.

Elected Tuesday night, Harvey Hoverman, president of a citizens' meeting Monday night, discussing the barbers' problem with the council. Council then set for a twenty-present emergency ordinance which would have repealed before four councilmen had to present the required three readings.

The 3rd vote failed to provide the two-thirds majority necessary to suspend the three readings and pass the actual enactment of an emergency ordinance. Councilman Jerome Burgess called for a committee of Mr. Hoverman and Joseph Hoverman, that an ordinance be prepared amending the present ordinance and setting the hours from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. on weekdays and from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m. on Saturdays, the first 12 p. m. closing hour to apply to Sundays preceding legal holidays. The amendment was passed 6-0 as an emergency ordinance.

MINISTERS APPROVE PROPOSED CURFEW

Use Aid To Bring Newcomers Into Churches.

[illegible] approval of the proposed curfew to keep minors [illegible] streets was given by the Marion County Ministerial association at a meeting Monday at the Y. M. C. A.

The members pledged their churches to give all possible support to city officials in establishing and enforcing a curfew.

In view of the increased population due to the Scioto Ordnance plant, a committee was appointed to work with the Y. M. C. A. in contacting newcomers in the interest of church attendance.

From the association treasury will be purchased posters for hotels and other living centers, giving the locations of all churches in the city, as far as possible in keeping with the association membership. Rev. E. M. Hertzler of First Church of the Brethren, president of the association, appointed on a committee for this work Dr. Harry L. Bell of Central Christian church, Rev. J. B. Holloway of Trinity Baptist church, Rev. Henry Maag of Prospect Street Methodist church, Rev. P. E. Smoke of Calvary Evangelical church, Rev. E. H. Wierth of First Evangelical and Reformed church, and Rev. J. H. Canada of Mt. Zion Baptist church.

The association also favored assisting in establishing recreation centers.

Plans for a closer-knit organization which will lead to organizing a county council of churches, a women's federation, week-day and vacation Bible schools, county young people's groups and leadership classes will be presented at a meeting June 1 at which officers for 1942-43 will be elected. Rev. J. A. Carriker of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, Dr. Bell and Rev. Smoke are on the nominating committee.

Rev. J. Raphael Dallas of Oakland Evangelical church, treasurer, reported the Good Friday offering amounted to $61.21.

The association will meet May 22 to hear Herman J. Sweet present the Ohio Council of Churches program for the Christian education advance movement.

Treat Constipation This Gentler Way!

Many folks say that almost as bad as constipation are harsh cathartics and purges. That's because many medicinal laxatives work this way: they either prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body.

Now comes news of a gentler and pleasanter way of treating constipation, for the millions of people with normal intestines whose trouble is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. This way is by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, and drinking plenty of water. ALL-BRAN, unlike many medicinal laxatives, acts principally on the contents of the colon and helps you to have easy, normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, better see your doctor.

Tire Saving Now Semi-Official

TESTIFYING before the house interstate committee, Secretary of the Interior Ickes has given at long last semi-official status to a national policy of conserving tires to avert a transportation catastrophe. He has explained that nationwide gasoline rationing has been considered by the government as a means of saving rubber. Simultaneously, Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, has been ordered to take steps to save rubber.

It is an open and shut case. There is a rubber shortage. Except for specified uses, tires now in existence will have to last for the duration of the war. The government is planning on a long war. At the present rate of use, millions of tires will be gone long before the end of another year. Yet, aside from earnest yelps of excitement and resolutions in favor of somebody else doing something about it, tires are not being given any official attention.

Every mention of gasoline rationing has produced the eminently reasonable reply that there is plenty of gasoline, except in certain seaboard states pinched by submarine warfare. There can be, therefore, it is concluded, no reason for curtailing the use of gasoline. It is a fact, nevertheless, that the best possible excuse for rationing gasoline is not a shortage of gasoline, but an increasingly acute shortage of rubber.

There will be no worthwhile conservation of essential tires until something is done to curb the use of automobiles.

Honest Confession

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S revelation that there will be no victory garden on the White House grounds because the soil is poor lifts a load off many a pair of patriotic shoulders. The first lady has performed an act of kindness.

Somehow the idea has been put into circulation that a victory garden is the least a loyal citizen can do for his country in times like these. Thousands of them have scratched in their yards among the old bones, ashes and pieces of broken glass and bent pins to make seed beds. Into the seed beds they have dumped packages of seeds, which never will be heard of again.

While there has been no warning of a seed shortage, it seems to be contrary to the spirit of the times to waste good seeds on rubbish heaps. If the greenery that surrounds the White House hides a sub-soil of miscellaneous junk, it can be imagined what the soil analysts would say about the stuff beneath the bare patches in the back yards of the rest of the country.

Psychologically, a victory garden may be worth whatever it costs in seeds, stiffened muscles and bitter disappointment. Realistically, Mrs. Roosevelt probably has a better idea—Don't try to win the war by planting seeds on barren soil.

The Greatest Theory There Is

IN THE beginning, the founding fathers had a theory about how human beings could live together. They got it out of the Bible mostly, with bits and pieces borrowed from the liberal philosophers of the times.

All it called for, aside from certain details of procedure, was to believe it was possible for a government to trust the people and vice versa. The way to keep the thing going was to make the government belong to the people.

That's really all there was to it—an idea so big that it still is the biggest thing there is in political thought. Every so often a throwback like Hitler squawks that it won't work and goes back to the whips and strong-arm gangs to keep the people in line. But when that happens it merely proves that on the whole there's no substitute for the theory of the founding fathers—not among civilized people, anyway.

It's the greatest theory there is—greatest because decade in and decade out it works the best. Like any other theory, however, it only works about as well as it is made to work. That is to say, there's no magic in the theory; all the magic is in the men who use the theory as a guide for their political conduct. Those who really believe in government by, for and of the people and understand how to make that kind of government work are capable of performing miracles.

Right now one of the miracles on their schedule is a vast program of war financing to be carried out by the people's voluntary purchases of government securities—War Savings Bonds and Stamps. This is the only country on earth where government financiers would dare to think of raising more than a pittance by voluntary action. The standard approach in an authoritarian system would be, of course, to start out with veiled coercion, pass quickly from that to direct coercion and end up in confiscation. But the United States still dares to believe that the people's own sense of responsibility is stronger than coercion. The founding fathers who put together this republic 150 years ago would be pleased—and probably astonished—if they know how long their theory has lasted, how well it has worked and what men still are willing to try in its name.

About 5,000 volunteer observers assist the U. S. weather bureau.

News Behind the News

Russian Diplomacy Believed Cleverest Yet Disclosed in the War.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 6—Russian diplomacy seems to have been by far the cleverest so far developed in the war.

I have it on what I believe to be unquestionable authority that Stalin told the Japs before Pearl Harbor he would remain neutral if the Japs attacked the United States. He also told the Tokyo government that if Japan attacked Russia, the United States would attack Japan.

By this smart maneuver and otherwise, the Red leader has avoided conflict with his natural enemy on the second front in Asia. He has created a situation you would not believe, if it were not obvious before your eyes:

We are warring with Russia against Germany and without Russia against Japan. Russia, our close ally, receiving substantial quantities of war material from us, is not using them against our enemy in the Pacific.

Not only that, but Stalin has not allowed American military missions to survey bases in Siberia from which we could bomb Japan.

Consequently, we do not seem to stand a chance of getting those very important bases until Stalin believes Japan is ready to attack him.

Russia, realistic as always, is fighting this war for Russia, and thereby setting a good example for the United States, and especially for the little group of lovers of humanity here who live in clouds of idealism and expect others to do likewise.

Production vs Shipping

The battle of production has been won. Few communiques are issued from that necessarily secret front, but it is safe to say that both tank and plane production are running ahead of schedule.

In fact, everything is ahead except shipping. In some instances raw materials have been diverted from tanks to the shipyards in order to stimulate the lagging phase.

The deficiency is restricted to merchant ships. War vessels are far ahead of expectations. Admiral Land has placed the blame on several factors, shortage of steel, both labor and management troubles, and the fact that the program started late.

Thus, while we are demonstrating what the old democratic capitalistic system of production can do in an emergency, we are unable to keep these materials flowing to the far flung battle fronts of the world at a commensurate pace.

Nazi Peace Feelers

It is not clear yet, whether Nazi peace-feelers out of Bern and Stockholm are a result of the desire of news among correspondents there working on space rates of whether they were planted by Nazi agents. The latter is probably true.

Hitler may be feeding out peace-talk so he can turn around to his war-weary people and say "see, I tried it. There is nothing left to do but pursue the war to the fullest.

In any event, peace now is out of the question from any standpoint. It would have to be based on the status quo which would mean a defeat for our cause.

Russian Convoys

Remember this, while searching for news from the all important convoy front to Russia:

The only sea losses promptly announced are those which become known anyway, such as sinking along the coast where survivors are publicly landed, or ships specifically claimed by the enemy.

The best authorities say, nevertheless, that our shipments to the Russian front are being maintained slightly ahead of schedule. Certainly the Reds are well pleased. Stalin complimented us in his May Day speech for these efforts, the first time he has mentioned the subject.

Help from Missionaries

Mormon missionaries back from Japan helped this government with plans for bombing Japan's industrial cities. These missionaries know where everything is located there, steel mills, foundries, oil refineries.

Similar information on both Germany and Japan is being gathered up quietly by the board of economic warfare.

Engineers and business men who have done contract work in Europe and the far east are being consulted, particularly those who worked on Rumanian oil wells, electric power plants, mills and foundries.

The European information is being passed on to the R.A.F.

Excitement at Kelly!

By WILLIAM L. RIVES

KELLY FIELD, SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 6—(Wide World) — Fantastic though it sounds, the biggest event at Kelly Field's pilot replacement center is the flight of an airplane overhead.

Men freshly called into the air corps tilt their heads and squint up at the flying ship with all the interest and excitement of a 10-year-old.

For those men seldom see an airplane! It is a rare occasion when one roars over the parade ground, and chances are, it's against army regulations.

Pilots are not permitted to fly over the center unless, as they come in to land at Kelly, wind direction forces them to.

Occasionally, however, an army pilot will zoom down within 50 feet of the ground, so the eager cadets, itching to get their hands on the controls of a plane, may get a good look at the ship.

For some of the young men, it salves their frustration; for others, it is salt poured into the wound.

Wants To See One

Ken Kavanaugh, former Louisiana State university and professional football star, resting in an army jeep between classes, said:

"Some of the fellows think they ought to park a plane out in the middle of the parade ground, so we at least could touch one of 'em."

Lewis was in "the pool." So fast are the future fliers coming into Kelly, there is not room for them all in the pilot replacement center. So they must wait their turn in the pool.

After leaving it, they still must go through the five-week training course at the center.

"So far, we haven't even been close to a plane," mourned Buddy.

Now, however, before they so much as touch an airplane, they are given their military ABC's in the replacement centers.

But it wouldn't be good for them to brood over their inability to hop into a pilot's seat immediately, so the army does the obvious thing—it keeps them busy virtually all the time.

"I hardly have time to write letters," said Kavanaugh.

The cadet upon entrance gets a thorough physical examination, inoculations, a uniform, classification tests whose nature are a military secret, and a haircut.

Gets a Haircut

He may think he doesn't need a haircut, but he gets one—his hair is clipped with a half-inch of his head.

Then he enters into the replacement center's daily routine, which begins with reveille at 5:30 a. m. and ends with taps at 10 p. m.

Cadets learn to identify all types of planes—army and navy, allied and enemy.

Lectures point out "characteristic methods of operation and maneuver," and the students are taught to identify planes by engine and propeller noises. During darkness and other periods of low visibility, sound may be the only indication of identity.

He Stretched

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY—Joe Jameson has one quality the navy admires: perseverence. Eighteen months ago Joe tried to enlist. He wasn't tall enough and besides he was only 15 years old. Meanwhile, he was determined to increase his height to 62 inches, the navy requirement. He attached an automobile inner tube to the foot of his bed, another to the head of it. He fastened his head and his feet to the tubes, so that they stretched and pulled him while he slept. "It didn't work," said Joe. "I couldn't sleep." Just after his 17th birthday, he reached a height of 62½ inches and the navy accepted him.

Share-Your-Car Plan

President Suggests Solution for Transportation Problem.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, May 6 — Just how serious the shortage of transportation for individuals is becoming is indicated by the fact that President Roosevelt himself paused in his many other duties to call for an immediate "share-your-car" movement.

He didn't restrict his plea to Washington either, or even to war work communities. Through the American Municipal association and the U. S. Conference of Mayors, he has put it squarely up to every city in the country and thus to every car owner, whether he drives a broken-down jalopy or the last special-built streamline job to roll through the dealer's doors.

Entirely Voluntary

This is one contribution to the war effort that is going to have to be voluntary. Laws can draft men into the army and rationing can curtail the use of everything that's turning up short. But it would be impossible to police the whole nation to see if every car owner is doing his duty in sharing his car with his neighbors and fellow workers. The appeal will have to be made on a basis of patriotism and the success of the movement will depend on that.

Transportation officials have estimated that the share-your-car drive could easily reach proportions where 5,000,000 cars could be taken off the streets and highways without impairing the war effort. Think what that alone would mean in savings in gasoline, rubber, and wear and tear on cars that cannot be replaced for the duration.

Some Suggestions

There's nothing complicated about this "share-your-car" business. To some extent, it already has been put into effect in Washington and many war industry centers. Automobile association officials here have worked out several suggestions that will get the job done.

(1) Workers who are in the same factories or buildings and live in the same neighborhoods can organize groups of from three to six, each driving his car one day or one week and picking up the others.

(2) Business trips in cars may be synchronized by a little inquiry or verbal advertising. Salesmen who travel the same route might double up.

(3) Housewives who do their marketing by auto can form "share-the-car" groups with neighboring housewives. Shopping expeditions can be organized the same way.

(4) If children are taken to school by car, the same neighborhood groups can be worked out.

There is hardly a purpose for which the car is used, whether it's recreational, or business or social in which the "share-your-car" formula cannot be applied.

If the government officials have their way the "share-the-car" movement will rapidly develop to that point where the man or woman who habitually and needlessly rides alone will be as unpopular in the community as the slacker of World War I.

The Turps

Ethel Really Wants To Know Who's Saving Tires and Gas Besides Her and Husband Joe.

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp Writes From Brooklyn:

DEAR SIR: The other day my wife Ethel and I were taking a walk and a lot of automobiles went past us and Ethel ses Joe who is saving the rubber besides us? You don't use the car very much any more because you ses we have to save the rubber and you tell me to walk wherever I have to go or take the subway or a street car or bus and I am glad to do it but who else is saving?

I ses why Ethel I guess everybody is. She ses I don't think so Joe. Look at all the cars around us right now. Besides I was over on Fifth avenue a couple of days ago and there seemed to be just as many cars as ever. If everybody was saving rubber wouldn't there be fewer cars everywhere else?

I ses well Ethel I suppose the people who are still using their cars have to do it to get to certain places and she ses couldn't they walk or go in the subway or on a street car or bus the same as I do? I ses I suppose they could sweet but maybe some of them have to get to places in a hurry where they can't go except in their cars. I ses maybe some of them are big officials.

ETHEL ses can't big officials walk or go in the subway or on a street car or bus? Are their legs cut off or something like that? I ses look Ethel. I ses that is not nice talk about big officials. I ses they will be walking or riding the subway and street cars when the rubber runs out the same as us. I ses all the big people will be doing it.

Ethel ses yes Joe but why is it the rubber is running out faster for the little people than it is for the big people? I could see that many of those people in the cars on Fifth avenue were probably big people because some of them were limousines with chauffeurs. I don't think their rubber is going to run out as fast as ours and I ses well I can explain that without any trouble. I ses the little peoples rubber runs out faster than the big people because the little people can never afford to keep their rubber fresh and new like the big people.

I ses look at us Ethel. I ses if we had been able to afford new tires on that old jalopy of ours instead of letting them get worn down like they are now we could still be using the car but as it is we have got to save whats left. Ethel ses wouldn't it be more sensible to keep on using the car as long as the old tires hold out and then put it away for good instead of letting it stand in the garage to rot?

I ses yes Ethel but you forgot we have also got to save gas and oil as well as rubber and Ethel ses don't the big people have to do the same thing? Is the gas and oil going to run out for the big people faster than for the little people? I ses beautiful I am afraid you have the wrong attitude entirely. I ses there is really no difference between the big people and the little people on anything any more and you should not talk the way you are doing.

ETHEL ses why Joe what on earth have I said? All I have been trying to find out is who is saving the rubber besides us and now you are starting to get impatient with me. Are the big people in Washington like the senators and congressmen saving the rubber by not using their cars? I ses you know very well I haven't been in Washington so how should I know about that? I ses anyway if they are still using their cars it is probably because they have to get to the places where they meet in a hurry. Ethel ses why?

I ses now don't start that why business with me. I ses you talk about me being impatient but every time I try to explain something you start giving me that why thing just to confuse me. Ethel ses why Joe Turp I think you are getting mad about nothing at all. Have I insulted somebody by wanting to know why the senators and congressmen have to get to the places where they meet in a hurry and if they are saving the rubber by not using their cars?

I ses lets drop the whole thing and go to a movie Ethel and she ses all right Joe but if you get a chance I wish you would inquire around and find out who is saving the rubber besides us.

Yours truly,
Joe Turp.

Flying Artillery

As the war department looks at the matter, a bomber is heavy artillery on wings.

"Aerial bombing as an organized weapon of offensive warfare was born in the World war," recounts a war department press release. "In the first year of the war, the few planes in action were used almost exclusively for observation purposes and were not even armed. Pilots of opposing sides often would wave to each other in passing. As bitterness increased, the fliers took to shooting at each other with pistols. Then came machineguns. The military plane had become a fighting machine, and the next logical step was for the pilot to take along a load of bombs on every mission and heave them out over likely enemy objectives, hoping to do damage."

The first bombs were ineffective, and bombsights, when used at all, were crude, so that the results were pretty much on a hit-or-miss basis—more noise than damages. Before the end of the war, however, the bomber, a heavy and sturdy plane designed solely for the bombing of enemy objectives, had made its appearance. The United States army entered on a program of mass production of bombers, principally the USD-9A De Havilands. On Oct. 2, 1918, the army air corps ordered 6,000 of these day bombers. The order was never filled, however, and only one finished plane of this model was shipped to France before the Armistice was signed.

After the war, the army air corps continued building and experimenting with bigger and better, harder-hitting bombing planes. In 1921 a Martin Bomber, in a test off the Virginia Capes, dropped a ton of bombs on the obsolete battleship Alabama and sank it. Each succeeding year, army air corps pilots were at the controls of bombers that flew faster, higher, farther, and with a greater bomb load. The uncannily accurate American bombsight was an accompanying development.

The program of the army air force was to a great extent centered around the improvement of heavy bombers, with the result that America today is able to carry the air war to its enemies across both oceans.

Man Fined $100 For Fleeing After Mishap

L. L. Pine, 51, of Agosta was found guilty by Judge Hazen this morning on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. He was fined $100 and costs and lost his driving rights for a year.

Pine previously pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday. He was arrested yesterday by city police after they had linked him with a car which collided Sunday with a coach driven by Emmett Huntsman of 537 Fahey street. Police said Pine, after being involved in the mishap at North Main and Fairground street, fled in his auto.

Cosh loans under $1,500 from banks or other lenders were held down to a maximum of 12 months to pay, and in some cases 90 days. Former rules applied only to cash loans to be repaid on the installment plan, but the new regulation also applies to loans to be repaid in lump sums.

In applying the new rule on charge accounts, the board, in effect, counted past purchases of listed items as having been made today. Unpaid accounts involving listed articles now on store books must be cleaned up—or installment terms arranged — by July 10.

The charge account rule allows between 40 and 70 days for payment. For instance, articles bought on June 1, June 15 or June 30 all become due on August 10—"The tenth day of the second month after the month in which the purchase was made."

Usual exceptions or extensions were granted for special cases, including student loans, emergency hospital expense loans, credit to farmers and others with seasonal income, and impoverished persons.

of fallen Mandalay, there was no word from the eastern end of the Burma front, where the Chinese forces at last report were fighting the Japanese who had thrust across the border into China's Yunnan province.

As the main British forces fell back, a military commentator said that they might have to abandon some of their heavier equipment, but that they were in no greater danger of entrapment than for the past three days. However, it was conceded that the Japanese may eventually cut them off, despite heroic aid of civilian pilots flying troops and civilians out in unarmed transport planes shuttling between India and the front.

CRASH CAUSE FIXED

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla., May 6—The crash of a multi-engined bomber and a pursuit plane, fatal to four second lieutenants and three privates, was caused by the failure of Lieut. Robert S. Boyce, 23, of Chillicothe, O., pilot of the pursuit craft, to judge accurately the speed of the two ships, an army board of inquiry reported today.

the one-room Smeltzer school in Marion township. Monday and Tuesday 100 persons made application and 85 received rationing books.

The registration total for Marion city yesterday was 7,776 applications and 6,937 books issued.

Youngest applicant reported to Supt. E. E. Holt is Joseph Michael Ettore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ettore of 344 Chester street, who was one day told when his father applied yesterday at the Silver Street school for his ration book.

One school reported the plight of an about-to-be father. The baby, first in the family, was expected at any moment. The father, anxious to be with his wife but knowing that it was the day for his alphabetical group to register, asked what he should do about the baby.

The registrar calmed him by assuring him it would be all right to come back Thursday. She pointed out that it would be impossible to register an unborn baby, since the sex, weight, height and color of eyes and hair is required on the application forms.

Little Complaint

Mr. Holt, who has visited most of the schools at some time during the registration hours, said today that "grumblers" would not number one-tenth of one per cent.

Figures on yesterday's registrations are as follows: the first figure indicating the number of applications, the second the number of books distributed:

Greenwood, 885-725; Oak, 681-651; George Washington, 441-386; Glenwood, 609-583; North Main, 418-378; Olney, 704-654; Mark, 780-719; Pearl, 1,312-1,030; Silver, 678-652; Forest Lawn, 474-427; Oakland, 794-731.

One school principal said she could laugh today at her Monday night work but that yesterday it didn't seem like a laughing matter. She left her building at midnight and worked at home until 3:30 a. m., checking the application forms to catch any errors that might have been made on the first day's registration.

Double Time Pay Blocks Settlement of Dispute

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6 — A full-blown dispute over payment of double time for Sunday and holiday work confronted war labor board mediators today as they took up the task of settling a contract-renewal controversy between the General Motors Corporation and the CIO United Automobile Workers.

C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, announced last night "we protest and do not agree to comply with" the board's interim order directing a three-week extension of the corporation's contract with the union, which expired on April 28 and which provided for Sunday double time.

Asserting the order to continue double time payments between April 28 and May 18 was based on "ex parte consideration of this matter by the WLB," Wilson said:

"Our cases involves many other issues, and an attempt to settle any of them in advance we consider prejudicial."

Navy Announces Another Axis Sub Destroyed

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 6—The third naval district disclosed today that another Axis undersea raider has been eliminated by the Atlantic patrol.

The job was done by an old four-stack destroyer which reported: "The debris in the water left no doubt that the sub had gone straight to the bottom—and for good."

The destroyer surprised the sub after it had surfaced to charge its batteries. Several members of the submarine crew leaped into the sea to escape a barrage of shell fire from the destroyer and were captured.

PRE-WAR ISOLATIONIST LOSES IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Sen. Bulow Loses Race for Renomination.

By The Associated Press

Senator W. J. Bulow, South Dakota Democrat, lost renomination for a third term to an out-and-out Roosevelt supporter who charged him with pre-war isolationism, incomplete returns from the headline contest in primary voting in four state indicated today.

Former South Dakota Governor Tom Berry held better than a 2 to 1 lead over the 72-year-old senator, who since Pearl Harbor has pledged support to the war effort but reserved the right to criticize administration domestic policies.

Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield appeared certain to be Berry's republican opponent.

Indiana—Rep. Schulte (D), a labor leader, trailed Ray J. Madden; six other representatives were unopposed; the other five incumbents held safe leads.

Alabama — Senator Bankhead and six representatives, all democrats, were unopposed. Chauncey Sparks led four Democratic candidates for governor.

Florida — Four Democratic congressmen were renominated.

MADAGASCAR

British planes were shot down by anti-aircraft guns and some of the light British tanks put ashore had been destroyed.

There was no British word on the possibility of future landing on the island but it was pointed out here that Madagascar scarcely could be called "safe" with occupation only of Diego Suarez.

Airfields such as the one at Tulear, on the southwest coast, down almost the whole length of the 1,000-mile-long island, it was pointed out, would afford the Japanese an opportunity to attack with air-borne infantry and parachutists as the Germans did to capture Crete.

These airfields, it was noted also, are vital if Madagascar is to be used as an air base for attacks on Japanese naval forces in the Indian ocean and to patrol the three sea lanes passing near it.

These are: 1—Through the Mozambique channel to Suez and Iran; 2—From the Cape of Good Hope to Colombo and Calcutta, 3—From the Cape to Durban, Union of South Africa, thence to Australia.

The landing yesterday, under cover of air and naval support, was Britain's answer to threatened Japanese investment of the island in the struggle for mastery of the seas.

Having won the jump, the British were showing no disposition to treat their erstwhile allies with kid gloves, as they did in Syria, and were driving for an unbreakable grip on the island as fast as possible.

The strategic importance of Madagascar was emphasized by the authoritative report today that Japanese submarines had been operating in the Indian ocean along with the battle fleet whose presence there already was known.

Other War Action

Other European war developments:

Russian campaign—Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported German siege guns started fires in Leningrad and asserted communications had been restored with a German army long encircled on the northern front.

This apparently referred to the bloody Staraya Russa sector, 130 miles south of Leningrad, where the Nazi 16th army of 96,000 men had been reported trapped for months.

Soviet guerrillas operating in the vicinity of German-held Orel, 200 miles below Moscow, sent a letter to Premier Joseph Stalin reporting that they had killed 5,000 German troops in the last six months, wrecked 16 troops trains, 340 trucks, 29 planes and 33 tanks, blown up 100 bridges and liberated 345 villages.

Soviet front-line dispatches said more than 1,500 Germans had been killed on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow in 72 hours of fighting and declared the Nazis were displaying signs of nervousness by sending up star shells to illuminate no-man's land each night.

Corregidor Saved Valuable Time for Allies in Pacific

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The fall of Corregidor at long last gives the Japanese use of the strategic naval base of Manila over which this little Gibraltar stood such gallant guard, but the delay imposed on the enemy program of advance by the brilliant defense of Bataan and Corregidor has been of inestimable value to the allies in the preparation of the all-important defenses of Australia and otherwise getting set for action.

Manila with its defenses was the barrier which the Japs had to crash in order to protect their attenuated sea communications with the homeland and permit them to race onward towards Indonesia and Australia. Had they not been halted in the Philippines, Australia might long ago have experienced invasion.

One finds it difficult to look upon the surrender of the rock of Corregidor as a defeat. Not only has it made an invaluable contribution to allied arms but, as President Roosevelt said in his message to General Wainwright:

"You and your devoted followers have become the living symbols of our war aims and the guarantee of victory."

Surely the inspiration which has come to all the allied peoples from the defense of Bataan and Corregidor is a factor whose value it would be hard to overestimate.

Wainwright and his men never had a chance to win through against the overwhelming striking power of the attacking Japanese. That the defense held out so long—28 days of fierce siege—is an amazing circumstance which will form one of the stirring pages of American history. Our men were without air protection and under a merciless cross fire from heavy artillery on both sides of the harbor. They had run short of ammunition and food. They must have been in a state of physical collapse when the Japanese swarmed ashore and enforced surrender.

Corregidor was in a powerful position. Most of its significant defenses were, as in the case of mighty Gibraltar, hewn out of the interior of the rock. Together with its three companion islands—Caballo, El Fraile and Carabao, all of which possess forts—it dominated the great bay of Manila and prevented one of the world's finest harbors from being used by the Japanese.

Lack of adequate air defense was one of the main causes of our undoing in the Philippines, and the same was true of Malaya, Singapore and Indonesia. Corregidor's rocky strength couldn't offset that disadvantage. Unlike Bataan, there was no way in which further aid could be got to our forces in Manila bay. The Japanese so completely dominated the air and the sea that relief on any considerable scale was impossible.

Vichy's willingness or unwillingness to continue formal relations but Vichy's willingness to engage in warlike actions against United Nations forces.

Force at Martinique

At Martinique an aircraft carrier—the Bearn—and two cruisers are at the disposal of the Vichy government. In the hands of a regime vacillating between collaboration with Germany and neutrality toward the United States even such a small force and its base of operations so near the Panama Canal has been a source of watchful anxiety in Washington.

Observers here expect a solution of the problem of Martinique to be announced soon.

Vichy was warned by Secretary of State Hull yesterday that American ships and troops were ready.

Hull did not disclose the government's intentions with regard to French possessions in the Panama Canal defense area. He told his press conference that Martinique was receiving attention along with other phases of the French situation and that this government would determine from day to day what it would do to meet the emergency of the moment.

Legion Still Critical of Ohio Defense Setup

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 6—The Ohio department of the American Legion, through its executive committee, renewed today its criticism of removal of the regional office of civilian defense from Columbus to Cleveland.

The committee disclosed that it had approved a resolution submitted by the Middletown post attacking not only transfer of the office but the appointment of Dan T. Moore as regional director.

The resolution, sent to the Ohio congressional delegation to Moore and to James M. Landis, head of the office of civilian defense, asserted that Moore also is regional director of the securities and exchange commission and concludes that "management of civilian protection in this city made a part-time job."

CORREGIDOR

...ruined Corregidor and the other fortified islands in Manila harbor."

Just how many survived the long ordeal of air raids and artillery bombardments was not known, but it was generally estimated there were about 7,000 men and women altogether on the fortified islands.

These included a naval detachment originally consisting of some 1,500 marines and bluejackets who made their way through shark-infested waters to Corregidor when Bataan was abandoned on April 9, and a group of army nurses.

300 Air Raids

Since December 29, when 35 Japanese bombers subjected Corregidor to a three hour attack, that island alone had had 300 air raids. For the most part, sharp shooting gunners in the fortress kept raiding bombers at such high altitude that their aim was ineffective.

The final long-awaited attempt to storm the island was preceded by a day when the fortress bombed 13 times and shelled almost continually for five hours.

The persistent shelling from both sides of the harbor was believed to have worn down and blasted away the island's shore defenses, which presumably included pill boxes, barbed wire entanglements and other obstructions.

A final tribute was sent by President Roosevelt to General Wainwright and his gallant men during the closing hours of their struggle to beat back the invading swarms.

"During recent weeks we have been following with growing admiration the day-by-day accounts of your heroic stand against the mounting intensity of bombardment by enemy planes and heavy siege guns.

Cites Shining Example

"In spite of all the handicaps of complete isolation, lack of food and ammunition, you have given the world a shining example of patriotic fortitude and self-sacrifice.

"The American people ask no finer example of tenacity, resourcefulness and steadfast courage. The calm determination of your leadership in a desperate situation sets a standard of duty for our soldiers throughout the world.

"In every camp and on every naval vessel soldiers, sailors and marines are inspired by the gallant struggle of their comrades in the Philippines. The workmen in our shipyards and munitions plants redouble their efforts because of your example. You and your devoted followers have become the living symbols of our war aims and the guarantee of victory."

Curtin Lauds Stand of Corregidor Force

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA, May 6—Prime Minister John Curtin declared today that "there will be no dismay at the news of the fall of Corregidor; rather will there be a feeling of pride and admiration."

"The fact is," he continued in a statement, "that a very small force of brave men has held the world's attention by an amazing stand against the armed might of a foe greatly superior in manpower and machines.

"The government and people of Australia send to the government and people of the United States at this moment a message of congratulation and thanks for what their men did at Corregidor. The stand there upset Japan's war strategy and gained precious time.

STUTTGART AGAIN HAMMERED BY RAF

German Industrial Town Hit Second Time.

LONDON, May 6 — Industrial plants in Stuttgart again were bombed by the RAF for the second night in succession last night and British raiders also attacked other targets in southern Germany, the British reported today.

The raids were the third in a row against Germany since the start of a new series of aerial assaults Sunday on Adolf Hitler's war and industrial machines.

From these and other engagements, four bombers are missing, the air ministry announced.

It said the docks at Nantes were bombed again, and airdromes of northern France and the low countries were attacked.

Informed sources said the RAF crews again encountered cloudy weather over southern Germany which prevented detailed observation of the results.

A temporary waning of Nazi retaliatory raids was evident as the RAF pursued a program of destruction which has taken heavy bomber command units into Germany 21 times since April 1.

Light German forces made dusk and dawn forays against southeast English coastal districts with bombs and gunfire. Four planes took part in the twilight attack; two in the morning raid.

Salute to American Mothers

Whose sons and daughters serve America . . . in the armed forces, the factory, the farm.

IT takes all kinds of people to win a war. It takes soldiers and sailors, politicians and business men, farmers and laborers, wives and sweethearts . . . and MOTHERS. Mothers because they are a part of the force behind the fighting force . . . because they wait for the peace that will send their sons home to them . . . and because while they wait, they work. In some ways their work is as important as that of their armed and uniformed sons. Theirs is the important job of morale . . . of keeping intact the American home. For today, as in other wars, the home remains the port of happiness and safety to which men turn first when the War is won.

BECAUSE they are the unsung heroines of this War, let's make Mother's Day, May 10, one they will long remember. Because of the look of hope in her eyes, because of her smiling courage, your mother this year, is truly the 'Lady of the Hour.' Let her know how proud you are of the job she is doing. Remember to tell her . . . that you, like all Americans everywhere, deeply appreciate the letters of hope she sends, the hours of labor she spends in Red Cross work, the faith she has in you and all the others who are all-out to win the War. Tell her so with a gift, a visit, a letter, a phone call. If you want to give her something special inscribed "To Mother—with Love", choose it from the advertisements of the Marion merchants appearing in The Star —there you'll find hundreds of suggestions for things your mother would like to receive.

Make May 10, 1942 a day your Mother will long remember!

Boston Pummels Indians 13 to 3 To Sweep Series; Reds Win 2 to 1

Joe DiMaggio Belts Pair of Homers, Triple as Yanks Beat White Sox To Step into Second Place.

The hard-hitting weak-fielding Indians dragged themselves out to Yankee Stadium today for a critical two-game series against the world champions.

With Cleveland a half game in front the series probably will decide which team will top the American league, temporarily at least.

It wasn't losing three straight to the Boston Red Sox, yesterday's shellacking being 13 to 3, that upset the Redskins as much as the poor fielding which they displayed in Bean Town.

Cleveland had nine errors in the series, four costly infield miscues coming yesterday. Unrecorded errors of judgment were numerous, too.

Walters has lost four games and been driven from the mound in three straight starts prior to yesterday.

Bucky's sinker and fast ball were working again and he set the Giants down with five hits.

"Prince" Hal Schumacher gave up five singles, too, but three of them in the game-ending 10th.

Bucky scored the run which won him his first game, singling to center and making the rounds on singles by Lonnie Frey and Mike McCormick.

Elmer Riddle, gunning for his second victory in five starts, and Dick Erickson, winner of one start for the Braves, were today's probable hurlers.

The headlines today acclaim laughing Larry French as the star of the Brooklyn Dodgers' 3-1 conquest of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The affable lefthander, who will be 38 years old in the fall and is approaching the end of the line in the major leagues, outpitched young Howard Pollet in a sizzling struggle at St. Louis. He not only hurled four-hit ball that should have netted a shutout, but he twice ringled home Dodger runs including the one that broke a tie in the 11th inning.

This was the first time in nine games a Brooklyn pitcher had gone the route and it was the first time Brooklyn had won since Owen last started—which was at Cincinnati Thursday when Sullivan was hurt. In halting the Dodgers' four-game losing streak French would have had a shutout except for an error by Herman with two out in the eighth inning, letting a runner score from second.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who had crept within a half game of first place in the National league during the Dodgers' slump, were walloped 7-1 by the Boston Braves, who made 16 hits, including four by former Pirate Paul Waner, and had the benefit of six-hit pitching by Jim Wallace, up from Hartford of the Eastern league.

The Pods beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, taking advantage of five walks, five stolen bases and three errors, plus nine hits.

Braves, Reds Open Two-Day Series

A somewhat streamlined Ernie Lombardi was welcomed back to Crosley Field today as the Braves and Reds opened their 1942 competition with the first of a two-game series.

The big Californian who backstopped for the Reds for a decade was benched yesterday while rookie Catcher Clyde Kluttz's three hits helped Reston to a 7-1 victory ovre the Pirates.

But regardless of how "Big Schnoz" fares with the Beantowners, he's still a hero in Cincinnati and certain to get the nearest thing to an ovation the slim turnouts these days can give.

The Reds closed a three-game series with the New York Giants yesterday by clinching the rubber game 2-1 in 10 innings. The victory—fourth in the last five for the Reds — was gratifying but more heartening was Bucky Walters' pitching.

Three defeats in a row is not new to the boys this year. After winning the season's opener in Detroit, the Tribe lost two to the Tigers and one to the Chicago White Sox before they hit their 13-game winning streak.

Jim Bagby, who has five straight victories this season, started the Tribe on the triumph trail then, and he was called on to twirl today.

Hitting has been the least of Tribal worries. They have distributed 71 hits pretty evenly during the last five games, yesterday's 12 being the "low."

But yesterday's 12 were not bunched, the Redskins scoring single markers in the first, sixth and seventh frames.

The first tally came on an error and singles by Kenny Keltner and Buster Mills. Jeff Heath opened the sixth with a triple and crossed the plate on Mills' outfield fly. Roy Weatherly scored from second on Keltner's single to left center in the seventh.

Boston collected 18 hits off Vernon Kennedy, Harry Eisenstat, Clint Brown and Charlie Embree. Six runs in the third inning did all the damage.

Joe DiMaggio had himself a day at Yankee stadium, leading New York to a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and lift the world champions back into second place in the American league. After DiMaggio had put the Yanks back in the game with two homers, he tripled the winning run across in the ninth.

The victory set the stage for a two game series opening today between the Yanks and Indians with first place the prize.

The Detroit Tigers were herded out of second by the three-hit hurling of Russ Christopher as the Philadelphia Athletics won, 2-1.

Washington beat the St. Louis Browns, 5-3, although held to five hits. The Browns made four errors.

Ohio Team Rolls Into 24th Place in A. B. C.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 6—An Ohio entry, the Borden's Dairy team of Springfield, blasted a 2,935 series to pace Tuesday's Keglers in the American Bowling Congress tournament. The count, good for 24th place in the standings, resulted from games of 1,032, 920 and 974.

The day's high singles score was tallied by Max Barczak of West Milwaukee, Wis., with 651. Victor Sherman and George Kiewasser of Ann Arbor, Mich., led contemporaries in the doubles with 1,266.

Tournament leaders remained unchanged.

Greentree's Star Colts Are Reverse of 1934 Duo

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE—There's a striking parallel-in-reverse between Mrs. Payne Whitney's Preakness entry of Shut Out and Devil Diver and another pair of colts which made history in the race eight years ago, when a Kentucky Derby winner was beaten by his own stable mate.

This is not to predict that Shut Out, the Derby winner, will be whipped by his stable mate, Devil Diver, in the 52nd running of the $50,000-added Preakness Saturday but it is true that the Greentree stable connections still feel that Devil Diver is the better of the two.

Shut Out and Devil Diver are approaching the Preakness in a situation similar in some respects to that in which Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade and High Quest came to Pimlico back in 1934.

Cavalcade, regarded as the best horse in Mrs. Sloane's Brookmeade stable, had won the Derby easily from Discovery and Agrarian, while High Quest, winner of the Wood Memorial, had been kept out of the Kentucky classic and saved for the Preakness.

The original plan was for Cavalcade to take rest after his Derby triumph and for High Quest to represent Brookmeade in the Preakness. But Mrs. Sloane changed her mind and elected to win with Cavalcade and thus become the first woman to capture both the Derby and the Preakness in the same year.

She and the public wanted Cavalcade to win. But High Quest had other ideas. He led all the way and defeated Cavalcade by a nose in a terrific stretch battle to finish the mile and three-sixteenths in 1.58 1-5—a record which still stands.

What happened to Mrs. Sloane in the Preakness in 1934 happened to Mrs. Witney in the Derby this year. Devil Diver was considered Greentree's main threat but wound up sixth in a roughly run race while Shut Out, the stable's "ugly duckling" drove to a handsome victory.

Handlers arriving here with the Greentree horses were still "high" on Devil Diver, but not too confident about Shut Out.

Of course, the stable must figure out beating a lot of other horses, too, including Al Schaffer's Alsab, Emerson F. Woodward's Valdina Orphan, second and third, respectively, in the Derby, and several others which run out of the money in the Kentucky classic.

A "KILL JOY" GANG

By The Associated Press

TULSA, Okla.—The Tulsa baseball team is becoming the spoiler of the Texas league. Hoot Evers, Beaumont outfielder, had hit safely in every one of the season's first 17 games, and boasted a .541 batting average. Sunday Tulsa hurlers terminated the streak with a vengeance. Evers was held hitless in both ends of a doubleheader. Then the Oklahomans dumped Shreveport, seking its fifth consecutive victory, 4 to 2.

PARK COMMISSION SETTLES BASEBALL DIAMOND DISPUTE

Marion Hawks, Malleable Iron, R. R. A. C. Teams Given Use of Lincoln Park.

Use of the Lincoln park diamond as home park for the Marion Hawks, one of six teams entered in the Ohio State semi-pro circuit, and for use by other Marion baseball and softball teams was assured last night in a closed meeting of baseball managers with Lawrence Sager, member of the city park commission.

The Hawks will play at least once a week at Lincoln park, on either Wednesdays or Sundays. The American Malleable, Marion Grays and Rural Rockets Athletic club were also given the privilege to use the park.

It is the first time the park commission has ever intervened in baseball squabbles here to assure use of the diamond by a representative group of teams.

Any teams desiring to use the diamond in the future will have to contact the park board. Police officers will be on hand to see that wishes of the commission are observed by teams using the park.

The Marion Hawks will open their 40-game schedule here Sunday against the Galion Jaycees.

Following is the complete schedule:

Charleston, Springfield Lead Mid-Atlantic Loop

By The Associated Press

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 6—Charleston made it three straight over the Erie Sailors and stood with Springfield, O., in the Mid-Atlantic league's unbeaten column today.

Erie seemed headed for its first win of the season last night when Charleston Second Baseman Bobby Ankrum pounded out a triple with two on in the ninth to give the West Virginians a 4 to 3 win as they swept the series.

Springfield's Cardinals, playing at home, registered a 5 to 4 victory to take the third of a three-game series with the Canton Terriers. Andy Holenic held Canton to seven hits and batted in the winning run in the sixth inning.

Dayton toppled Zanesville from the unbeaten class with a 6-4 victory. The game was at Zanesville.

Marion Sports in Store for Banner Year; Ingears Begin Downhill Skid.

By LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

The man who said sports would be at a standstill this summer was sadly mistaken. Much the opposite — Marion sports will probably thrive as never before.

Baseball was propelled back into the local spotlight by the Marion Hawks, one of six teams entered in the Ohio State semi-pro circuit. The Hawks open their season Sunday at 3 p. m. on the Lincoln Park field against Galion.

Softball, which was expected to face a slump because of the large number of softball players inducted into the armed services in the last 12 months, has risen with a bang to new heights. Twenty-four teams representing commercial and industrial enterprises as well as clubs in the city league program. The league's opener is set for 6:30 p. m. tonight at the Lincoln Park diamond with Attorney John Cleary pitching with Bishops managing first baseman with the powerful Greentree Seniors.

Charles A. Turner, softball commissioner, recently said today a gala program is being arranged for the opening night celebration. Mayor Russell Snare and many of the city other dignitaries will be on hand to herald the opening of the summer-long schedule. Mayor Snare will toss out the first ball. In addition Harding High school's fast-stepping bandsmen will be present. An impressive flag ceremony is also planned.

Other summer sports — tennis, golf, fishing, only to mention a few, are progressing by leaps and bounds to verge what is now expected to be an unprecedented season.

Operators of local golf courses have exercised good thinking in mowing down roughs for duffers like you and I. Roughs were always an electro-magnetic to mis-golfing and now with the roughs a thing of the past — a voice of peacesome—maybe my golfing will follow the shorter and straighter lines.

On Way Back Down

Cleveland, unpredictable Indians, winners of one of the longest strings of victories the majors have ever known, appear well on the way to another equally astounding performance. Yesterday the Tribe took its third straight game—all to the Red Sockers. Although getting 18 hits, six less than their opponents, the Tribesmen garnered three runs as compared to the Sox 13. Watch out for a modern Babe-ism in Tepee Town.

Letter to the Editor

Cecil McKee, who many local sport fans will remember as a pretty nifty Harding High track star of a few years back, writes from Lexington, Ky., asking a little info on the local track situation.

Should I tell him?

Well, there's a war being waged. Tires are being rationed. The all-important N. C. O. track meet is out for the duration by unanimous action of the N. C. O. faculty board. And what's more, although no official word could be obtained, there appears to be an acute shortage of capable manpower on Coach George Niemi's abbreviated squad this spring. This was exceptionally noticeable in the recent Ohio Wesleyan university relays as the Preaxymen failed to gain even a fraction of a point. Another handicap is the attraction of after-school chores. Several boys whom Coach Niemi had banked on as the nucleus of his current squad have taken jobs in local stores, preferring cash to fame.

Does that answer your question, Cecil?

And You'll Agree

Another hot one out of the morning's mail bag:

Johnny Uschel of Mansfield writes, requesting names of Marion baseball teams interested in entering a Sunday league. Well, Johnny, I am sure there are teams interested, but right now we, in Marion, have more leagues than ball parks in which to play.

RED BIRDS EDGE BREWERS 7 TO 5

Flock Stops Minneapolis' Win Streak at 6.

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee's invincibility on its own grounds has been blasted by Columbus and the big bat of Lou Klein.

The American association pace setters had not been defeated at home this year in 12 starts. But Klein altered this situation yesterday and also snapped the Brewers' latest winning streak at six by clouting two home runs that helped Columbus win, 7-5.

It was the second time Milwaukee had scored six straight victories without being able to grab the seventh. The first string came at the start of the season.

Yesterday's setback, which the brewers tried to overcome with a ninth-inning rally, sheed the leaders' margin over second place Kansas City to one and a half games.

Kansas City might have reduced the edge even more, but weather forced a postponement of its game with Toledo. The Louisville-Minneapolis contest also was postponed.

At St. Paul, however, the Saints and Indianapolis spent the day dealing each other shutouts. In the first game of a double-header Steve Rachunok of the Indians won a 1-0 pitching duel with Vedie Himsl. Bill Swift gave St. Paul a 9 to 0 victory in the second.

GAMES TOMORROW

National League — New York at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia at St. Louis, Brooklyn at Chicago, Boston at Cincinnati.

American Association — Indianapolis at Milwaukee, Toledo at Minneapolis, Louisville at Kansas City, Columbus at St. Paul.

"Angel Wrestles, Thursday"

Promoter Fishbaugh was happy to sign the Swedish Angel for an appearance at the Marion Armory Thursday night. The Angel is the country's leading drawing card and its very seldom he wrestles in the smaller cities. Nick Billins, the tough Greek wrestler, who hasn't lost a match at the Armory has signed to meet the world's ugliest grappler. Standing well over six feet and weighing 220 lbs., the Angel has proved to be the toughest matman shown in this part of the country. This will be the two hour main event. The one hour semi-final brings back the ever popular Texan, Tony Ross. Tony has made quite a few friends in Marion by his clever type of wrestling. Buck Davidson of Sun Valley, Idaho will be Tony's opponent. The one fall opener will be between Sailor Olsen and Billy Venable. Prices remain the same and tickets are on sale at Market & Lewis Cigar Store. —Adv.

Sports Trophies and Player Awards Presented at Harding High Assembly

Co-Championship of N. C. O. League and Consolation Award in Tournament Bring School New Trophies.

Harding High school formally received two new sparkling trophies for its already crowded trophy case when the N. C. O. co-championship basketball trophy and the Central district consolation trophy in basketball were presented this morning in an assembly at the school.

The Harding cagers, playing their entire schedule on out-of-town floors, wound up in a tie with Ashland for the North Central Ohio conference title. In the Central district Class A tournament at Delaware, the Presidents finished third behind Columbus South and Newark, winning over Columbus Central in the consolation round after losing to Columbus South in the semi-finals.

Coach Presents Awards

Coach D. N. Bohyer made the presentations on behalf of the team, and also presented small gold-plated basketballs, suitable for wearing on watch chains, to the 12 varsity players, Day and Tom Hurst, Charles Roberts, Gene Shellhorn, Dick Cleary, Dick Mulvaine, Keith Williams, Harold Garver, Charles Bowers, Bill Stein, Harold Walker and Phil Shockney.

Sweater emblems in the form of a megaphone, inset with the numeral of their graduating year, were presented by Mr. Bohyer to five undergraduate cheerleaders, Rosemary Jones, Mary Short, Betty Bond, Garet Jones and Billie Williams. The four senior cheerleaders, Eileen Roberts, Ethel Granger, Ruth Wise and Grant Mouser III received their emblems at the recent basketball banquet.

Gifts Presented

Clyde Everly, one of the organizers of a student booster club, presented the varsity players with watch fobs and gave Coach Bohyer a small trophy and Assistant Coach William O. Williams a tie clasp as a gesture of the club's appreciation of their contribution to the school. The money for the gifts was raised at a dance the club sponsored several weeks ago.

Day Hurst, senior class president, presided for the senior assembly in west hall. It was announced at a second assembly in east hall that the presentations had been made and the players, coaches, cheerleaders and others taking part were introduced.

Scenes from Play

In both assemblies scenes from the senior class play, "Inside the Lines," were presented by Charles Roberts, Allen Swain, George Porter and Joe Baker. Twylla Dawn Peterson of the publicity committee presented the players. Miss Eloise Coffman, a member of the faculty who played the role of Queen Victoria in the school production of "Victoria Regina," a few years ago, spoke briefly. Singing of the national anthem was led by Marjory Schoonover.

T. C. McDaniel Jr., American Red Cross field representative who is in Marion this week to teach an instructor's course in first aid, talked on the importance of first aid, particularly in the present state of world conditions.

CONG. SMITH HITS POLITICAL PENSIONS

Continues Fight for Repeal of Ramspeck Act.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion Tuesday renewed his fight against pensions for non-civil service governmental employes when he introduced a petition to discharge the house civil service committee from further consideration of a bill relating to repeal of the pensions. In his remarks to congress as he introduced the petition, Congressman Smith said:

"This bill seeks to repeal the provision in the recently enacted Ramspeck Act, Public 411, which grants pensions up to around $5,000 a year to some 250,000 political job holders receiving salaries up to around $10,000 annually, who took no competitive civil service examination or had anything to do with the real merit system, and which will cost taxpayers more than $44,000,000 annually.

"Consider the national peril and the sacrifices all of us are called upon to make. Consider also the fact that no money has been appropriated or taxes levied to pay the cost involved here and that every dime of it must be borrowed and added to the federal debt. Consider further the great threat of inflation that faces the nation and the fact that the treasury is already under the greatest strain to find sufficient funds to meet the war costs. When this is done and in view of the increasing outcry of the people throughout the country for the politicians and bureaucrats in Washington to stop grabbing, to eliminate waste and discontinue all non defense expenditures that are not absolutely necessary, can there be any question that this unconscionable provision in the Ramspeck Act should be forthwith repealed? Shall we or shall we not heed the voice of our constituents in respect of these matters?

"Which members of this house will dare go back to their districts and openly defend the provision in the Ramspeck Act which my bill seeks to repeal?

"The placing of this discharge petition on the speaker's desk will provide an opportunity for every member to go on record as to how he stands on this repeal measure.

"I respectfully request each member to consider signing this discharge petition so that H. R. 6680 may be brought before the house for consideration.

"In this connection I think it should be understood that this repeal measure is complementary to the measure which repealed congressional pensions. The repeal of congressional pensions only is not enough.

"To do our duty as representatives in congress I think we must repeal also the pensions which the Ramspeck Act provided for the other, some 250,000, purely political job holders."

Robino Nicolosi, 30, and Crist Catsicopolis, 53, pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday afternoon to charges of allowing refuse to accumulate in the alley behind their place of business at South Main street. They were released after paying $10 fines and costs. They were arrested earlier in the afternoon at 129 South Main street by Patrolman Smith on a warrant filed by Chief of Police Marks.

Two New Teachers Are Hired at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, May 6 — Two new teachers were hired by the Galion board of education Tuesday. Robert Payne of Mt. Gilead, was elected assistant coach in both basketball and football. Mary Helen Welch of Ashland, was hired to fill the vacancy caused by the marriage of the former Peggy Eller, as director of girls' physical education.

Payne is a graduate of Ohio Northern university with a B. S. degree in physical education. For the past year he has served as the football coach at Columbiana.

Miss Welch attended Ashland college for two years and then transferred to Ohio State university where she will be graduated this June in physical education department.

PAY RAISES GRANTED BY GALION COUNCIL

Special to The Star

GALION, May 6—Acting upon petitions received at the last meeting, the Galion city council granted pay increases to employes of eleven city department last night. The increases amount to five cents an hour for those employed on monthly salary. A few exceptions with higher raises were allowed in cases of seniority of service.

The department which received the wage increase were fire department, auditor's office, health department, service department, water, electric light office, light and water plant guards, police relief department, service director's office and employes of the City hospital.

Council voted transfer of $30,000 from the electric light funds to the electric light improvement fund in order to arrange for the construction of a new tower at the electric light plant.

Official authorization was given to Mayor William Amann and Service Director Charles Geiger for the employment of an engineer in connection with the proposed reservoir project of the Big Four railroad.

In the consideration of the abandoned street car tracks of the Cleveland Southwestern railway company, city officials authorized the removal of the tracks, and the sale of the scrap metal to the highest bidder.

CORRECTION

Due to an error in The Star yesterday, William Kehrwecker was listed as commander of Veterans Post No. 3313. Mr. Kehrwecker is commander of Marion Chapter 22, Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

Body of Woman Found in Los Angeles Home

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, May 6—The corpse of a woman tentatively identified as Mrs. Rose M. Whitmore, about 50 and formerly of New York City, was found in her recently-purchased home last night, her head battered with a car jack handle.

She presumably had been dead since April 27.

Police Capt. Vernon Rasmussen broadcast an order for the arrest of a ruddy, gray-haired man, about 55 and 6 feet or taller, to whom he said Mrs. Whitmore had been married recently. He did not give the man's name.

Police investigated after an air raid warden reported he was unable to arouse anyone at the house.

BUCYRUS—The resignation of John L. Madson, boys' secretary at the local Y. M. C. A. has been accepted and Madson has left for Pontiac, Ill., for several days' visit before returning to be inducted in the U. S. army.

CORN PRICES TAKE MARKET SPOTLIGHT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 6—Taking the market leadership, corn prices today registered gains of as much as a cent a bushel in reflecting good demand from shipping interests and industries.

Wheat, however, lagged behind after an early advance of about ½ cent and at times showed small net losses. Buying of previous short sellers lifted May soybeans more than 2 cents at one stage. Disappointing flour demand and favorable crop reports helped to check the advance in wheat.

SELLING HALTS MARKET GAIN

Liquidation Begins in Face of Unfavorable War and Profits News.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 6—The stock market's recent selective rally was interrupted today by a thin stream of selling prompted in part by adverse war reports and Washington announcement of new economic controls.

Despite the lightness of many offerings many leaders were set back fractions to around a point. Buying power was decidedly thin from the start. Steels, motors, utilities, rails and aircrafts generally were in minus territory.

Working against the stock list was an early dip of a point or so in American Telephone, a prominent figure in the past week's recovery swing. Santa Fe recorded a similar loss but later came up a little. Also lower were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, and Union Carbide.

The Washington news budget contained some depressing items for financial sources where concern has been felt over the future profits possibilities of industry. Given special attention in this connection were the further tightening of restrictions on installment buying as ordered by the federal reserve board and the war production board's decision to cut by 50 per cent gasoline and light fuel oil deliveries in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia, effective May 15.

STATE LIBRARIAN QUESTIONS REPORT

Noon Declares He Kept Costs to Minimum.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 6—State Librarian Paul A. T. Noon confirmed today reports that he had submitted his resignation, but he challenged statements concerning his traveling expenses.

A Bricker administration spokesman said yesterday that Noon, for nine years state librarian, had spent from $1,200 to $1,500 yearly for travel during the 1936-41 period. The same source said $700 had been allocated to the state library for traveling last year.

Noon said that the $700 was for such expenses incurred not only by the librarian but also members of the state library board and that it had been the custom in the past to draw from the fund for administering state aid to libraries for additional travel costs. There was $2,500 allocated to this account in 1941.

"The very nature of the work requiring constant travel," the 33-year-old librarian declared, "this is the first time anyone has questioned the propriety of using the administrative fund for travel because that is what it was set aside for originally."

He added that his office had "made every effort" to keep such costs at a minimum.

Tots Helped by Operations

IN A GROUP of people the other day, when it was mentioned that a neighbor's baby had to undergo an abdominal operation, someone said, "I didn't know babies and children ever had such things," and everyone expressed doubt as to the ability of a baby to stand such a procedure.

As a matter of fact, while the necessity for abdominal operations in children arises much less frequently than in adults they are not at all uncommon and surgeons believe that young persons are excellent surgical subjects, provided the treatment is conducted by qualified surgeons, the hospital equipment is adapted to the needs of the infant and child, the anaesthetic is well-chosen and skillfully administered and that certain special equipment and instruments that may be necessary are available.

Even a newborn baby will tolerate an abdominal operation of considerable magnitude. There are several developmental conditions that require surgery immediately after birth; for instance, diaphragmatic hernia or "upside-down stomach" and certain forms of intestinal obstruction.

In early life, a few weeks after birth, a form of obstruction to the outlet of the stomach may make itself known. The infant nurses greedily, only to vomit all the feeding within a few minutes. If allowed to go untreated, these babies lose weight and present a pitiful appearance of emaciation. In children's hospitals where large numbers of the patients are treated surgically, 99 out of 100 are permanently cured by an operation on the stomach.

The seventh or eighth month of life is the time when a certain form of intestinal obstruction is most frequently observed. This is a telescoping of the bowel, or intussusception. This comes on very suddenly, with evidences of severe colicky pain, causing the baby to draw his legs up, cry and become pale. Later, mucous and blood may be passed in the stool. The condition is relatively infrequent, but operation is the only known way to save life and should be done early.

Ruptures of several types are seen in the young and operation is indicated as the only form of treatment in most cases. There is no reason why they should be allowed to linger on and no reason why a baby or child who is otherwise well cannot be cured surgically at almost any age. The end results of operation for rupture appear to be better when performed in early rather than in adult life.

No discussion of the subject of abdominal surgery in childhood would be complete without mentioning one of the great menaces to young life—acute appendicitis. In childhood the appendix is placed low, is relatively large and the omentum, which protects adults, is short. Nature, in other words, provides none of the protections to children with appendicitis that it does to adults.

Surgical interference must be prompt and efficient in these cases if life is to be spared. In babies the recognition of colic and abdominal pain is naturally not as easy as in adults, but in babies as well as in adults, the use of cathartics in any acute colic is to be avoided except under medical advice. Cathartics seldom do any good and may make a mild condition very much worse.

Madge Recalls How Her Mother Gave Jack In His Boyhod the Strange Name "Shawn Rue"

"IAN SHAWN RUE!" When my almost hysterical relief had spent itself, following my discovery that my long lost brother-cousin Jack Bickett and Charles, the mysterious aid of Professor Diswell pretending to be the old man's servant, were one and the same person, I repeated to myself with a tender, amused smile the queer syllables which Sadie, the long distance supervisor, had given to me.

I remembered clearly the day I first heard them. Jack and I had had a tempestuous quarrel, in which his dark hair and what Dicky much later called my "Titian locks" came very near being pulled. When a compulsory peace had been established by my mother, who had a little Gaelic in her blood stream, she first reprimanded me, albeit with an almost imperceptible twinkle in her eye, for "unladylike conduct," then with a more pronounced twinkle summoned Jack before her.

"John, the Red-Headed"

"If you were in old Ireland," she told him, "they would call you 'Shawn Rue'—John, the red, or red-hearted."

"But I'm not red-headed," Jack protested wildly—I could see even now his aggrieved, boyish face most vividly—"Margaret is, but my hair's dark."

"They wouldn't have been referring to the color of your hair but to your temper," my mother told him blandly, while Jack's face flushed as red as the name my mother gave him.

"How do you spell it?" I asked eagerly, seeing before me unlimited possibilities of teasing Jack. But my mother looked at me with cold disapproval.

"It won't do you any good to know," she said, "for if you ever call Jack by that name without his giving you permission, I shall punish you severely.

Uses the New Name

"The real spelling wouldn't do you any good anyway," she went on. "Sean wouldn't mean John to you and I've forgotten how to spell the word for red myself. So just spell the name the way it sounds 'Shawn Rue.' But remember, not unless Jack gives you permission."

It didn't take long for me to coax Jack to give me permission to use the name which appealed so strongly to my childish fancy. And after that, as my mother also had used the name—at first playfully, and then as a tender nickname for the boy she loved as if he indeed had been her son—Jack was called "Shawn" as often as "Jack."

But until I had heard the use of that name repeated from the lips of the long distance telephone operator, I did not know he had ever used it with anyone outside our little family circle. Now, however, the proof was in my hands that Professor Diswell, his old preceptor, also knew him as "Shawn Rue."

I believed it beyond the bounds of possibility of imagination that there could be two old friends of Professor Diswell both bearing that significant expression. No! Jack Bickett was the hunted man who had come to his former professor for sanctuary.

Mystified by His Looks

I felt that I could not wait to get back to my father's big armored car and confront Jack. I owed him something. I told myself grimly, for keeping his identity from me, and especially for the suppressed amusement which I had noticed in his manner.

I did not wonder now at his amusement. In the old days a photographic memory had been my outstanding trait, yet I had not recognized in the man the boy who had been brought up with me from infancy.

True, he had changed greatly, and his long, unkempt, graying hair and straggling beard were still a cause of mystification. But I resolved grimly that I would not give my kinsman the satisfaction of telling him how I had solved his secret. I would make him believe, for a while at least, that I had known him from the first.

My impatience was flaming now, and I went to the door and flung it open to find Gus standing upon the doorstep.

"I was just coming to get you, Missis Graham," he said. "The captain, he say everything ready now, so you can go."
